

What excuse for the day? What keeps pen from paper? Chores? Responsibilities? Games? Naps? All of the above? Try to sneak moments and dice up time, so far removed from the staid stagnation of the cafe, long ago.

Who else does the same? Do any of us continue to slurp/stall/smoke and document it as we do? Only in so far as there's a pretty picture to post, something for someone else to see (like). Otherwise, no point.

Here I am to try again anyway. Scribble a bit, stolen seconds, minutes, just a handful, mind you, not the marathons of old. Quick sprint and then back to it, that other it, that one over there... then that one and that next one... yawn. Time for bed yet!